Who Kidnaped Nesting Wren?

What happened to the Carolina wren and The Gettysburg Times newspaper tube?

That was the question being pondered today by Guyon E. Buehler.

Thursday there was in front of his home along the Knoxlyn Rd., as there had been for some time, a tube in which The Gettysburg Times is placed with each day's delivery.

In the tube, instead of The Gettysburg Times, was a Carolina wren which had established quarters' rights and used the tube for her nest — a situation that was being respected both by The Times deliveryman and Buehler.

Friday evening when Buehler went for the paper he was shocked to discover that while his copy of The Times was on the ground where the tube had been — both the tube and the wren's nest had disappeared.

Not believing the wren had made the tube into a portable nest, Buehler is wondering if someone stole the tube for the metal or whether somebody stole it for the wren.

UPPER ADAMS AUDITORS FILE '59-60 REPORT

Operation of the Upper Adams School System is a $741,799.05 per year business, according to the annual auditors' report filed with the prothonotary's office Friday.

The amount includes not only the regular school expenses but the cafeteria fund, the high school activity fund and rental fund.

The report shows all funds of the school system began the 1959-60 school year with a balance of $83,491.72. Receipts during the year totaled $741,799. Expenditures were $727,710.80 leaving a balance—in all funds—of $101,311.92.

State Pays More

The report shows the state paid more toward education of the Upper Adams children than did the residents of the area. Total revenue from the state was $334,147.87 of which $20,296.04 was a "reorganization incentive" given because the Upper Adams system merged during the year. Total local income toward the general fund was $225,436.52 of which $214,780.10 came from various taxes and the rest from such items as a $7,644.38 balance put into the merger by Tyrone Twp. and rental of school buildings for various events which provided $1,215.

The tax on real estate transfers in the merged district brought $8,684.04 into the system's treasury, the report showed.

Breakdown On Expense

Total expense of the school system operation, apart from such funds as the activities fund, cafeteria fund, etc., was $553,174.04. General control items cost the district $25,544.63 of which the largest individual sums were the superintendent's salary, $9,499.92; the tax collector's fee of $6,756.80, and secretary's salaries totaling $6,000.

Instruction cost $335,588.71 of which $277,456.91 went for teachers' salaries, $27,699.50 as principals' salaries; $14,792.93 for supplies, $4,390.10 for textbooks, $4,299.84 for clerks, $3,756 for "improvement of teachers" and $304.89 for commencement exercises.

Other Cost Items

"Auxiliary Agencies" cost $48,179.16 of which $37,150.28 went for contracted buses and $4,096.76 for operation of buses owned by the school system. Other expenses in that division included $4,966 for nurse service, $375 to the public library and $839.48 medical services.

Operation of the plant cost $35,143.13 of which $18,771.76 went for salaries and wages, $7,959.46 for fuel, $4,441.07 for light and power, $4,996.05 for water, $2,337.85 for supplies, $1,174.80 for telephone service.

Maintenance of the plant cost $17,437.49 of which $7,633.28 went for repair or replacement of instructional materials, $3,917.20 for repairs and replacement of heating, lighting, plumbing, $3,442.74 for repairs to buildings.

$52,000 In Rentals

Kennedy Blueprints Fighting Campaign Urging New Frontier Crusade, Scorns Religious Issue, Says He Is Free Man

By JACK BELL

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy took personal command of the Democratic party machinery today after bluntly laying the religious issue on the campaign line.

In a dramatic address accepting the first presidential nomination given to a Roman Catholic since 1928, Kennedy told a cheering throng of 60,000 in Los Angeles' sprawling Coliseum Friday night: "I am telling you now what you are entitled to know: That my decisions on every public policy will be my own—as an American, a Democrat and a free man."

News Conference

With that position fixed, Kennedy called his first general news conference since the party convention gave him its top nomination.

Moments after the sun had dipped below the rim of the vast stadium, Kennedy strode to the podium of temporary stands to lay down a blueprint for a fighting campaign to carry America beyond the "New Frontier" into a space age he said demands "a new generation of leadership."

But as a preliminary to his promise to provide "creative Democratic leadership in the White House," the 43-year-old Massachusetts senator grasped the issue of his Catholicism by the forelock and shook it out for his GOP opponents to inspect.

Waste Franchise

"I hope no American, considering the critical issues facing this country, will waste his franchise by voting either for me or against me solely on account of my religious affiliation," he said.

The shirt-sleeved crowd, which filled about two-thirds of the expansive reaches of seats, roared back its approval.

And, speaking with scorn, Kennedy brought up the name of the man certain to lead the Republican Party against Kennedy in the fall—Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The Democratic candidate described Nixon as "a man who has spoken or voted on every known issue."

Blasts Nixon

Mr. Nixon may feel it is his turn now, after the New Deal and the Fair Deal—but the cards will be cut before he deals," Kennedy said.

In Washington, Thruston B. Morton, Republican chairman, said Kennedy's card cutting reference "was prompted by the fact that he has been playing with his own stacked deck at the Democratic convention."

New Frontier

Turning to world affairs, Kennedy defined the "New Frontier"—which he obviously hoped to make as much of a catch phrase as the New Deal and Fair Deal had become—as "a frontier of unknown opportunities and perils—a frontier of unfulfilled hopes and threats."

"Beyond that frontier are un-

The boy was moved to the hospital by his father, Chief Bechtel said.

Quesenberry Back In Jail After 11 Hours Of Freedom

Sixteen-year-old John Quesenberry, of Aspers, was back in the Adams County jail this morning after having walked off Friday afternoon while cutting grass at the jail.

Quesenberry was sentenced May 14 to from six to 12 months in jail on a burglary and larceny charge, with the sentence to start April 28.

The youth with more than half of his expected sentence already served, was placed on various work details of the county prisoners and proved an "excellent worker," the sheriff said.

Police Join In Search

Since he had proved himself apparently trustworthy and since it would be a relatively short time until he would be free, officials did not expect he would do anything that would involve a much longer term in jail.

He and 18-year-old Ronald Farrar, of Gettysburg R. 4, who also was serving a short sentence, were put to cutting grass around the outside of the jail Friday. About 1:45 o'clock Quesenberry told Farrar he was going to a rest room and departed. The sheriff making a regular check of the youths a few minutes later discovered that Quesenberry had disappeared.

State and local police were notified and Sheriff Dawson Miller and Deputies J. Clair Sanders and Guy Seifert went in search of the escaped prisoner.

'Stake Outs' Set Up

Sheriff Miller set up a "stake out" near the youth's home in Aspers. Deputies Sanders and Seifert parked near the trailer home of a girl acquaintance of Quesenberry off Franklin St.

The night grew later — and colder.

Sheriff Miller began to shiver at Aspers and about 12:30 this morning decided to check with his deputies.

Hide During Afternoon

Deputies Seifert and Sanders were running into the same problem and decided to go to the jail to get some hot coffee and return to the trailer to see if Quesenberry had arrived.

A few minutes after the deputies had left Sheriff Miller pulled into the trailer court. As he stopped his car he saw Quesenberry's acquaintance standing at the door of her trailer just about to go in. She waved the sheriff on in and he walked into the trailer to find Quesenberry had just arrived.

Quesenberry told the Sheriff he had no idea why he ran away, but said that after he left Farrar he had walked past the County Home, past the Eisenhower School, "down to the railroad." He had remained hidden in the woods along Rock Creek until early this morning, then had walked through the town to the trailer. He said he had just arrived when the sheriff came in the door.

Quesenberry was back in jail at 1 o'clock this morning.

DINNER PLEAS LURE SUICIDE OFF PERCH TOP

By PATRICK McNULTY

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A vacationing psychiatrist left a swordfish dinner and talked down a would-be suicide swinging and yelling atop a 10-story structure Friday night.

Police and firemen closed off the area when a husky young fishing boat worker was spotted atop the skeleton structure of a new apartment building.

Dr. Richard Renneker, dining with his wife and friends at a nearby restaurant, joined about 150 persons standing below as the young man jeered at the crowd.

Talks To Man
Dr. Renneker and an unidentified Catholic priest walked up an inside stairway to within three stories of where the man perched on a half completed elevator shaft.

The man on the tower refused to talk to the priest.

Dr. Renneker, a research psychiatrist at Mt. Sinai Hospital in Hollywood, told the man it was his life and he could throw it away if he wanted to.

Turn Off Lights
At Renneker's request police turned down spotlights playing on the man teetering more than 100 feet from the ground.

Some in the crowd shouted "jump jump!"

Dr. Renneker delivered the clincher.

Ruining Dinner

"You're ruining my dinner, you know that," he said.

The young man came down spectacularly, swinging hand over hand like a gymnast on the half completed shaft.

When he touched the ground he was quickly seized by waiting police.

The man, identified by police as Norman Harvey Battey, 24, Costa Mesa, was taken to Orange County Hospital for psychiatric observation.

Police said he had been upset over marital troubles.

Dog Offers Flood Feather Household

Unwittingly, The Gettysburg Times has overwhelmed the Feather household at 838 Fairview Ave. with generous offerings of canine replacements for the "small black dog" mistakenly reported lost Friday.

Mrs. James Feather has one more dog than she needs at the moment. She has "found" a small, friendly black dog, evidently some youngster's pet, and she is eager to return it, not secure additional ones.

LAWRENCE SEES HEAVY ANTI-GOP VOTE IN PA.

By RICHARD L. GRAVES
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. David Lawrence today predicted a heavy anti-Republican vote in Pennsylvania which, he said, would assure a Democratic victory in November.

Lawrence said "disgust" of voters with what he termed the Eisenhower Administration's ineptness will draw Republicans into the Democratic column.

"There's an ineptness, and the people are not only disgusted, they're alarmed," Lawrence said.

Played Key Role
The governor played a key role in the Democratic national convention which would open Friday night. He marshalled 68 pivotal votes for the first ballot nomination Wednesday night of Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass) as the party's standard bearer.

Less than 24 hours later he played a big part in the selection of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) as the vice presidential nominee. He made the nominating speech for Johnson, then led his 81-vote state delegation in helping make the choice by acclamation.

To Hit Hard
Lawrence indicated his state campaign policy makers will hammer hard on the anti-administration line.

The people don't want to get into a shooting war," he said, adding:

"Here we have that crazy fellow in Cuba and our own base there, and I've never been so alarmed in my life with the situation as it confronts us today—maybe another Hitler." He referred to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Praise For Kennedy
He made a personal point: "I'm not anxious to get into a war. I have a young man of 21 (Gerald Lawrence, his son)."

Lawrence discounted his own influence in the convention. "I think Kennedy did an excellent job," he said. "There was no smoke-filled room story out of here. (Kennedy) talked to scores of people, senators, national committeemen, and so on, and asked their feelings about it. I talked to a number of national committeemen over the weekend and they felt it should be Johnson."

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. DeGroff, Patrick Ave., Littlestown, in honor of their son, Kim, who celebrated his sixth birthday on Wednesday. Games were played and prizes awarded to Michael Boller, Karen Newman, Becky Feeser, John Kindig, Sandra Snyder and Kim DeGroff. Group games were also played and refreshments were served. Those in attendance, in addition to the above mentioned were James Kindig, Gregg Little, Patty Beaver, Richard Basehoar, Jane Kountz, Wayne Bream, Barbara Harner and Kris DeGroff.

By BEN BURROUGHS
"USE GOD'S BLESSINGS"

Go forward with an open mind... put prejudice aside... put love in place of hatred... and in the Lord confide... don't thrive on idle chatter... try thinking for yourself... keep large reserves of faith and hope... upon your mental shelf... this world is truly wonderful... if you know how to live... you must be understanding... and able to forgive... indeed, these are essential things... in the search for happiness... and without any one of them... you'll roam a wilderness... so use the blessings God bestows... in this way you will find... the road to joy beyond compare... paved with true peace of mind.

Kennedy

charted areas of science and space, unsolved problems of peace and war, unconquered pockets of ignorance and prejudice, unanswered questions of poverty and surplus," he said.

He said the times demand "invention, innovation, imagination, decision."

Youth Crusade
"For courage—not complacency—is our need today, leadership, not salesmanship," he said. "Are we up to the task—are we equal to the challenge? Are we willing to match the Russian sacrifice of the present for the future—or must we sacrifice our future in order to enjoy the present?"

This was the Kennedy of the youth crusade which he apparently intends to conduct during the general election campaign.

Behind him was Kennedy, the practical politician, who took over today, lock, stock and barrel, the positions of power in the Democratic party.

Jackson Choice

He tabbed Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington as his choice for chairman of the Democratic National Committee to succeed retiring Paul M. Butler. Jackson said he was studying the question of whether he could accept and carry out his Senate duties.

Democratic state chairmen, summoned to a meeting, were amazed to have thrust in their hands carefully prepared brochures on how to conduct the campaign in their states. Each contained a county-by-county breakdown of voting registrations and other detailed information.

The Democratic National Committee, which for four years had been an organization without a specific candidate, belonged also to Kennedy.

Membership Changes
With the rolls still incomplete, the committee roster showed 41 changes in membership. Many of the departing members had been forced out in state committee voting when they declined to come out publicly for Kennedy in advance of the convention.

There was no doubt that Kennedy's camp had catalogued every member. Those among the carryovers who had been reluctant to see the Massachusetts senator nominated could expect to be bypassed in the campaign.

It had been years since the Democrats, used to a catch-as-catch-can campaigning, had encountered anything like the ruthless efficiency which marked the beginning of the Kennedy regime.

Starts Operation
Where nominees in the past have been content to spend most of the summer putting together a campaign organization, Kennedy started the operation within a matter of hours after he received the nomination.

Katie Louchheim, vice chairman of the committee, submitted her resignation. It was reported she might be succeeded by Margaret Price of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Brother Robert Kennedy will be his campaign manager, in fact if not by title. Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff and State Chairman John M. Bailey of Connecticut will have prominent roles as will Hy Raskin of Chicago, a worker in the presidential primary vineyards.

U. S. FAVORED IN NET PLAY

QUEBEC (AP) — The United States looks for a pair of 19-year-olds from St. Louis to wrap up a first round American zone Davis Cup tennis victory over Canada today.

Earl Buchholz and Chuck McKinley were Capt. David Freed's selections to represent the U.S. in the doubles after 32-year-old Bernard Bartenz of Dallas and 24-year-old Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, won Friday's two singles matches.

Lorne Main, Canada's non-playing captain, indicated he would use Bob Bedard and Don Paontana, the pair who lost Friday's singles.

Bedard took the first two sets but, hampered by a knee cramp, was no match for Bartenz, the U.S. Clay Court champion there. Bartenz won 5-7, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2, 6-2. MacKay had no such trouble. He just overpowered Paontana 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

LANCASTER MOVES INTO 2ND PLACE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Phil Cavarretta figured all along he had a good club in the Lancaster Red Roses despite a crop of inexperienced youngsters.

And right now the Red Roses are proving their manager right. They swept a doubleheader from Springfield Friday night, 7-3 and 4-2, to move into second place, 5½ games behind Williamsport. The losses dropped the Giants into third, 6½ games behind.

Allentown Leaves Cellar

Williamsport, meanwhile, split a doubleheader with Reading. The Grays took the nightcap 14-7 after dropping the opener 7-4.

Allentown climbed out of the cellar and dumped Binghamton in by defeating the Triplets 5-4 in 11 innings after winning a June 4 suspended game 17-16.

Lancaster pushed across six runs in the sixth inning of the opener to give Bill Kirk (2-0) the victory with help from Fred Burdette in the seventh inning. Denny Loudenback belted his sixth homer for the Red Roses who hung the defeat on Jim Duffalo (6-2). Don Prince (5-1) pitched a five-hitton to best George Case (8-9) in the nightcap.

13 Williamsport Hits
Williamsport cracked out 13 hits including homers by Danny Cater and Lee Elia, and took advantage of five Reading errors as Bob Gill (7-4) coasted in for the nightcap victory despite giving up 13 hits himself. Al Luplow and Bill Williams each belted two run homers to lead Reading in the opening game victory. Ray Konkeloski was the winner in relief.

CUBANS BRAND REYES TRAITOR

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Nat Ryes, manager of Jersey City in the International League, branded a traitor in his native Cuba, left for the ball park today with a plain clothes detective at his side.

Ryes, who took over as field boss of the Jerseys when the league moved the franchise out of Havana, was placed under 24-hour guard Friday after being termed "a traitor and an enemy of his own country" by the newspaper La Revolucion.

Castigated by the semi-official organ of Fidel Castro's government for "behaving like a Yankee," Ryes shrugged off the verbal scolding.

"I'm a baseball man. I go where I'm sent, and I'm not worrying," said the former major league infielder who played with the New York Giants.

Local authorities, however, are taking no chances. Police Commissioner William McLaughlin has ordered around-the-clock protection for Ryes, whose family still is in Havana.

The Herbarium of the Smithsonian Institution sometimes assists the F.B.I. in crime detection. It identifies and gives probable origin of seeds, leaves and twigs found in clothing of crime suspects.

Hermine Schmid, 74, Once Was New York Marionette Master And Puppet-maker

A 74-year-old former New York City resident who speaks three languages, has worked as an accountant, correspondent, clerk, puppetmaker, teacher of teachers, marionette instructor and toy designer decided to retire about 10 years ago and chose the village of Hunterstown to live, in order to be near his daughter who resides in Washington.

Hermine Schmid probably is known only to the residents of Hunterstown because he lives a quiet and modest life, although he bustles actively about his home chores. He says he gets lonely now and then since his wife died last October and he doesn't have a car to go anywhere.

Schmid, at his peak, was one of the better known instructors of puppet and marionette shows in the New York theater. He started carving puppets as a hobby when he was a little boy in his native Germany.

Arrives In 1910

After schooling in London, he worked as a salesman for an olive oil company in Spain. In 1910 he decided to seek a living in America. Upon arrival here, he said, "work was hard to find."

Schmid worked at one time in a New York department store designing figures for advertising and promotional displays. He made the figures out of paper-mache which later were used for background material in houses. The moulded cutouts were life-sized and included animals, people, trees and even small houses.

During the depression, he taught education and recreation to other potential instructors. Being a linguist he also was called upon to teach beginning students in French and German. Hermine would like to teach these languages to beginners for a fee to supplement his small income.

Has Two Daughters

In 1912, he married an Ohio girl and raised two daughters, one a New York housewife and the other a Washington, D. C. resident working as a personnel specialist helping re-establish veterans released from the service.

While visiting the Schmid residence in Hunterstown (R. 4), a reporter for The Times was shown some of the puppets and marionette figures used in his shows. Nearly all of the creations were hand-carved by Schmid and are now stored away in his attic.

KENNEDY HAS HIGH HURDLE IN NEW BILLS

By JOE HALL

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy, in winning the Democratic presidential nomination here this week, set himself some high hurdles for the Senate session opening Aug. 8.

Kennedy already was intimately involved with two of the biggest measures awaiting Senate consideration—a broadening of the minimum wage law and enactment of a medical care program for the aged.

But, in his rounds of delegate-hunting at the convention, he added two major chores which could prove even tougher to handle.

Defense And Farm

These were his proposal last Sunday that 2½ to 3 billion dollars of increased defense funds be voted in August, and his pledge to various farm groups to work next month for an emergency bill to boost farmers' income.

Both of these already have been widely debated in the 1960 Congress. Both appeared to be closed subjects when the legislators quit for the national convention July 3.

President Eisenhower already has signed into law the $39,996,608,000 defense appropriations bill.

This total was 661 million dollars more than the President asked. The Senate voted an increase of about a billion dollars over his budget but this was pared down somewhat in the conference with the House.

It would be possible for Kennedy to offer his proposal for another big increase in military funds as an amendment to some other money bill.

TROOPS STAY PAST CONGO DEADLINE

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Belgian troops ignored Premier Patrice Lumumba's ultimatum to clear out of this former Belgian territory by 6 a.m. today.

As the deadline passed, not one Belgian soldier had left the Congo. Troops of the U.N. Emergency Force, recruited from African nations to help restore order, were arriving by plane.

(The Belgian Radio reported two Europeans were killed Friday night in clashes with Africans, but it gave no details on the extent of the clashes.

Bunche Fails

Belgian troops moved in as the crowd grew to about 800, angry and shouting.

Then Ralph J. Bunche, U.N. undersecretary here to advise the government, drove through the crowd and tried to calm it. He failed.

Alexander soon shifted to another store nearby. Congolese said a Portuguese businessman had killed one Congolese and wounded another with gunfire from his window.

The Negro police held off the crowd, which threw stones and demanded that police storm the building.

Soon a large police detachment arrived and hustled away the businessman in a van. Policemen held back the crowd.

United States earlier had rejected a Congo appeal for American troops to restore order, and backed dispatch of a United Nations unit.

Cuba took its quarrel with the United States to the U. N. Security Council, and this country welcomed a chance to outline Eisenhower's charges of Castro regime hostility toward the United States. The hearing before the council is scheduled to start Monday.

Meets Herter

The summer White House announced Friday that Eisenhower and Herter will meet in Newport Tuesday for a new review of world problems — their second since the President arrived.

In 1957 in Newport, the President's vacation activities — golf and fishing — were interrupted by the school integration crisis in Little Rock, Ark. Eventually he ordered federal troops into the city to deal with the situation.

In 1958 during Eisenhower's stay trouble with Red China flared in the Far East, and on the domestic front there was the crisis which led to the resignation of Eisenhower's chief aide, Sherman Adams.

THE UPLIFTED CHIN

Pride is a wonderful affair—the pride of respect and regal inheritance.

I like the word "king." In its derivation it means the "able man." And that is what we all strive to be—able, fit, alert and dependable.

I would like to live in a pure democracy of kings! Every man a master—of himself. There could then be no mastering over others—excepting in a helpful way.

A nation built of such beings, could rightly be labeled a nation of uplifted chins. For there would be no drooping chins and long faces there. A man who is his own good keeper may well be trusted to be his brother's good keeper. The uplifted chin means the uplifted head that doesn't walk into blind alleys and open "manholes." It enables the eyes to see better.

Our wills work heroically as we face things boldly. As we strike out unhesitatingly, we gain in intelligence and viewpoint, while that ever-following ghost of us all—fear—simply fades into mere mist and is no longer of us a part.

The uplifted chin is a kind of road sign to every passerby that sordidness and selfishness are but a muddy background to the atmosphere of a really fine world. Something like the white light shooting its soul out of the mire to toss a few kisses at the sun.

Look up—not down. Keep an uplifted chin!

SING ME A SONG

Sing me a song of brighter days;
Sing me a song of childhood's ways;

Sing of the time when we two were young,
When mirth tripped merrily from the tongue.

Sing of the days when skies were blue;
Sing of the days when life was new,

When hearts were young and eyes were bright;
Those childhood days of pure delight.

Now we are old, but we'll ne'er forget
Those joyous days before grief we met,

When over the gate we two oft swung;
Sing of the days when our hearts were young.

Cross Keys Movie Stars Cary Grant

Cary Grant and Tony Curtis are starred with Joan O'Brien and Dina Merrill in "Operation Petticoat," the submarine howler which opens Monday at Cross Keys Drive-In, New Oxford.

Properly "Operation Petticoat" features Eastman color to capture the antics aboard the SS Sea Tiger, a pink submarine which finds Grant and Curtis submerged with five girls. War duty turns into an hilarious battle of sexes full of misadventures that shake the South Pacific.

Most of the zany events of "Operation Petticoat" have some basis in fact. There was a pink sub, the USS Seadragon, which was tied up at Pearl Harbor getting a paint job when the Japs struck and she was forced to wander the Pacific, a shocking pastel apparition. Another sub, the USS Bowfin, fired at a tanker at a wharf and saw the torpedo veer and hit a truck. And, of course, a flock of women, nurses and refugees, was evacuated by sub.

Let's Look At The Record

HEMISPHERE POLICY
Ike Revitalizes Monroe Doctrine
Khrushchev Will Not Fight For Cuba

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President

Wisconsin State College, Superior
KHRUSHCHEV'S rockets rattling threats, Fidel Castro's rabble rousing rantings, and the irresponsible maunderings of a Mexico City politico have breathed new life into America's long moribund Monroe Doctrine.

This writer predicted months ago the United States would eventually have to return to this traditional corner stone of American foreign policy; and the sooner the better.

If done earlier, it might have spared the administration the necessity for such open and apparently alarming exchanges of vocal threats with Khrushchev.

But words, as used by Khrushchev, are mere instruments of Marxian dialectics to achieve an effect. They seldom have much, if anything, to do with actual intentions, immediate or future. Hence, no one is justified in racing his pulse because of Khrushchev's threats.

Nikita is not going to fight a war with anybody anywhere for Cuba. He has passed up too many chances to fight safer and lesser wars elsewhere where the prizes were far more alluring.

THAT AMERICA will have to take some positive action toward cleaning up the Cuban mess becomes increasingly apparent.

And this is true regardless of whom may or may not be elected President next November.

Forces in human affairs are often far larger than personalities and parties. Cuba is such a problem. Moreover, whatever is done by this or any future Washington administration will necessarily rest upon the historic and traditional principles of the Monroe Doctrine. These principles have been the greatest force for peace within this hemisphere since this nation's infancy. No other valid formula has been found.

Accordingly, it is well that President Eisenhower has reacted with such a positive and forthright stand and cited the Monroe Doctrine as the basis thereof.

What Messrs. Eisenhower and Herter are doing today will most likely be recorded by future historians as the Eisenhower Corollary to the Monroe Doctrine.

A YALE PROFESSOR of history, Dr. Samuel F. Bemis, is actually ahead of Eisenhower and Herter in the voicing the ultimate need for a corollary to the Doctrine as a block to communism in this hemisphere.

Because his years of teaching diplomatic history and voluminous writings on the same subject, no man in America today has such an encyclopedic knowledge of America's foreign policy or a finer appreciation of its capabilities and limitations.

Out of this wealth of knowledge, Dr. Bemis, before Castro had admitted an alliance with communism, urged Congress to pass a resolution reviving and expanding the Monroe Doctrine to preclude communism from this hemisphere.

The congressional resolution proposed by Dr. Bemis bluntly stated America would be justified in "taking steps to forestall intervention, domination, control and colonization by international communism in the New World."

This was because the resolution was being opposed by the career diplomats in the State Department. They fear a revival of the Monroe Doctrine by the United States alone might incur the resentment of all Latin American nations. Like all bureaucrats, as the careerists truly are, they would talk softly and hand out aids until all Latin American states went into a joint declaration on hemisphere policy favorable to United States.

"Draft Rocky" Drive Launched

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A campaign to draft Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York for the Rockefeller presidential nomination has been launched here with iced tea, cookies and petitions.

The Pennsylvania Draft Rockefeller Committee opened headquarters in a center-city shop Friday with low funds but high hopes.

"The purpose of this effort," said co-chairman Edward L. Howard of Doylestown, "is to convince Rockefeller supporters that there are a lot of other pro-Rockefeller people around. What we are trying to do is organize the vast amount of pro-Rockefeller sentiment that exists."

The committee has less than $1,000, Howard said. Iced tea and cookies were served to passersby, who also were asked to sign draft Rockefeller petitions.

"K" THREATENS INTERVENTION IN CONGO CASE

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared Friday the United Nations resolution on The Congo may not be enough. He said the Soviet Union is ready to act "to halt the aggression" there "if those states which are carrying on direct aggressions against The Congo do not stop their criminal measures."

This was disclosed in a message from The Congo's President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba. The Soviet news agency quoted the Congo leaders as messaging Khrushchev Thursday "We will be compelled to ask for intervention by the Soviet Union if the Western camp does not desist from aggression."

In his message Khrushchev spoke of the U.N. resolution as ranging for a U.N. force to go to The Congo.

Council Action

"The Security Council did a useful thing in adopting a resolution calling for the withdrawal of the Belgian troops from The Congo."

"If the aggression continues in spite of this decision, the Soviet government declares that the necessity would arise for both the United Nations and those peace-loving states which sympathize with The Congo to take more effective measures," the message said.

"If those states which are carrying on direct aggression against The Congo do not stop their criminal measures, the Soviet Union will not hesitate to take decisive measures to halt the aggression."

Earlier Caution

Khrushchev's warning followed an earlier caution against intervention by the Western nations in The Congo. He said Monday Western countries, led by the United States, were trying to re-impose a colonial rule over The Congo less than two weeks after it received independence from Belgium.

Tass said: "On July 14 Kasavubu and Lumumba sent Khrushchev a telegram stating that Congolese state territory had been occupied by Belgian troops and that the lives of the president and the premier of the republic were in danger."

"It is possible," they pointed out, "that we will be compelled to ask for intervention by the Soviet Union if the Western camp does not desist from aggression against the sovereignty of The Congo Republic."

Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes had no fear of death. "When he comes," he told his secretary, "he will look like an old friend."

IKE'S DESK IS CLEAR OF BILLS

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower's desk is clear today of the last of the big stack of bills which Congress sent to him shortly before recessing for the political conventions.

The President had 118 measures to act on when he arrived in this resort area a week ago for an extended vacation. He acted on the final batch Thursday, signing 65 and killing two by pocket veto. Nearly all were of secondary importance.

He approved the measure extending for two years the GI home loan program for World War II veterans. It also continues a 150-million-dollar annual appropriation for veterans unable to get private loans for homes. The bill carries on the government guaranteed interest rates of 5 1/2 per cent.

Detroit Raps Yankees 8-4 With Big 6th Inning; Tribe Shuts Out Nats; Birds Win

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

The hot bats of Rocky Colavito and Brooks Robinson have hampered the American League pennant race into a tight, four-team package.

Colavito's tie-breaking homer triggered a six-run third inning for Detroit as the Tigers rapped New York 8-4 Friday night and tagged the Yankees with a four-game losing string for the first time this season.

It was Rocky's fourth home run in three games and chopped New York's lead to 1½ games over second-place Cleveland. The Indians beat Washington 4-0 as Jim Perry won his 10th with a four-hitter.

Robinson became the first AL player to hit for the cycle—home run, triple, double and single—in three seasons, going 5-for-5 with three RBI as Baltimore beat Chicago 5-2. The Orioles, after losing five straight, now are in a virtual tie with the White Sox for third place. Each is three games behind.

The Boston Red Sox, winning five in a row for the first time this season, took a 2-1 decision at Kansas City.

In the National League, Cincinnati spilled Pittsburgh 4-1 and trimmed the Pirates' lead to three games as second-place Milwaukee beat Philadelphia 7-5. Los Angeles clung to third place with a 5-3 victory over San Francisco. Fourth-place St. Louis defeated Chicago's Cubs 6-0 behind Ernie Broglio's one-hitter.

18th For Rocky

Colavito's 18th home run came with two on and handed Art Ditmar (7-6) a third straight loss. Eddie Yost and Frank Bolling also homered for the Tigers as Don Mossi (8-6) beat the Yankees for the third time.

Robinson, who has hit safely in his last eight at-bats, homered along with Jackie Brandt in a two-run third that brought the Orioles from behind. The Birds then beat Billy Pierce (7-5) with a clinching run in the sixth. Milt Pappas (8-6) was the winner.

Bud Daley Loses

Perry (10-4) walked just one and struck out one while wrapping up his second shutout. The Indians made it nine in a row over Washington with two runs in the first two innings off Pedro Ramos (5-10).

The Red Sox beat Bud Daley (12-5), the majors' top winner, Bill Monbouquette (9-7) won it with a seven-hitter.

UPPER ADAMS LITTLE LEAGUE

First half play in the league ended Friday evening, a feature being a 7-6 victory by the second-place Bendersville Yankees over the first half champs, the Arentsville Phillies.

Score by innings: Pirates 320 010-6; Yankees 401 208-7. Batteries: Pirates, Tony Bushey, Dave Funt and Mike Kane; Yankees, Joe Forsythe, Wayne Crum, and Billy Taylor.

At Arentsville, the Biglerville Phillies took an 11-7 verdict from the Cardinals, breaking a 7-7 tie with four runs in the top of the sixth inning. The winners collected seven hits and the losers four. James Rudy and John White divided the pitching for the Phillies with George Sunbury catching. Bob Wilkinson, Don Wilkinson and Jeff Tuckey shared the mound duties for the Cardinals while Fred Ditzler was the catcher.

The Bendersville Braves scored twice in the final inning to nip the Red Sox 5-3 at Biglerville.

Score by innings: Braves 201 002-5; Red Sox 003 000-3. Batteries: Braves, Jimmy Wright and Delmar Crum; Red Sox, James Miller and Robin Grim.

Gettysburg Little League

The Moose took a tighter grip on second place by downing the Elks 7-1 while the Glenn L. Bream team remained undefeated, racking up number 12, as it won a 10-5 decision over the Rotary in Little League competition Friday evening at the Recreation Field.

Once again it was the combination of Chris Richardson and Jay Baker who brought victory to the Moose outfit. Richardson not only pitched his way to the win but batted strongly as well. The 12-year-old allowed only three scattered hits, struck out 12 and walked five for his fourth win. The tall righthander belted a triple, double and single for the same number of trips to the plate. Baker was three for three also on line singles and accounted for two rbi's.

Eric Maitland went the distance for the Elks and tossed a fine ball game for five complete innings. Paul Wolfe collected two of the loser's three safeties.

Ronnie Redding's fifth straight win on a clean slate and Mike Herring's three-run homer in the top of the fourth highlighted the Bream's victory over the Rotary. The Breammen collected 13 hits with John Heiser, Don McCans, Charlie Raffensperger and Phil Asper belting two each.

Dennis Herring was the big gun for the Rotary with a perfect three for three while Johnny Flynn and Mike Shainline uncorked a pair of safeties each to add to the loser's nine hits.

GIRLS SMASH RECORDS AT FRIDAY TRIALS

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Broad jumper Wyllye B. White, weight star Earlene Brown and fleet Wilma Rudolph got the women's Olympic trials off and winging Friday night.

In eight of the nine events in which preliminaries were held, all Olympic trials records were smashed. Miss White, a little girl from Chicago, set an American record in the broad jump with her best leap in six years of competing—20 feet 4½ inches.

The world's record for women is 20 feet 10 inches.

Mrs. Brown, the huge Los Angeles shot putter and discus thrower, led both of these events, even shading Olga Connolly, the former Czechoslovakia Olympics discus champion. Mrs. Brown heaved the shot 48 feet 8½ inches, almost two feet over her own Olympics trials record. She threw the discus 156 feet 6 inches, to better her Olympics trial standard of 145 feet 4½ inches.

Miss Rudolph, a Tennessee State star, got little competition in the 100-meter and 200-meter dashes. Miss Rudolph, who last week at Corpus Christi, set a world's record of 22.9 in the 200 meters, was far ahead in her qualifying heat in a time of 24.2, which bettered the Olympics trials record by two tenths of a second. She led the 100-meter qualifying with 11.7, which was five-tenths of a second under the trials record.

BIG LITTLE BALL LEAGUE

A homerun by Johnny Longanecker in the bottom of the sixth inning gave the Legion a thrilling 7-6 win over the first place Eagles Friday evening in a Big Little League contest at the Recreation Field.

The Legion, currently in last place, mustered enough power in both its defensive and offensive play to edge the league leaders. Trailing by one run going into the last half of the sixth, Paul Plank lashed a sharp single to right. Longanecker then followed with his four-bag blast over the leftfield wall. Up to the decisive moment in the game the Eagles had led.

Longanecker accounted for a trio of the winner's safeties while Plank added two more. Doug Appier started on the mound for the winners but needed help in the bottom of the fourth from the versatile Longanecker. Roger Giberson and Charlie Schleicher combined to do the hurting for the Eagles.

Records Fall At Shenandoah Track

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. — Shenandoah Downs racked up a handful of new records Friday night, chief among them a peak distribution for the bonanza when 44 fans picked four winners, each to collect $268.60 and a whopping $96 named three winners to earn $8.40 in the little bonanza. They were the smallest payoffs since pool betting was introduced here July 5.

Attendance wise, 7,317, fans turned up to bet $33,010, both new records for Friday night. A grand opening crowd of 8,709 bet $347,000 on May 1, 1959, but last night's figures were best since then. The total bonanza pool was $19,632, also a new mark for a week night.

Major League Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pitching—Ernie Broglio, Cards, allowed just one hit, a second-inning single by Ed Bouchee, walked but two and struck out 14 in a 6-0 victory over the Cubs Friday.

Hitting — Brooks Robinson, Orioles, went 5-for-5, drove in three runs and became first American League player in three years to hit for the cycle—home run, triple, double and single—in 5-2 victory over the White Sox.

Cards Beat Cubs With 1-Hitter By Broglio; Braves Win; Bucs Bow

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

"Ernie Broglio? He's my guy," said Manager Solly Hemus of the sparked-up St. Louis Cardinals. He's done the job, as a starting pitcher or in relief.

That was during the All-Star break, after the Cards had won nine of 13 and moved into a fourth-place tie in the National League race. Broglio had won three of 'em, two in relief against Milwaukee and the other in a complete game against Los Angeles.

Now the 6-foot-2 right-hander, a fast-balling 220-pounder, has added the best game of his two-year career in the majors, allowing just one hit and striking out 14 in a 6-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday night.

That left the Cards all alone in fourth place, seven games behind the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates who lost 4-1 to Cincinnati. Second-place Milwaukee moved within three games of the Bucs by beating Philadelphia 7-5. Third-place Los Angeles, a half-game ahead of St. Louis, defeated San Francisco 5-3 and dropped the Giants to fifth.

Broglio (10-4), giving up only a second-inning single by Ed Bouchee and walking just two, rolled up the top nine-inning strikeout total of the year in the NL for his fifth straight victory and first shutout of the season.

The Cards, with Stan Musial driving in two runs and Carl Sawatski hitting a homer, made it two in a row over Don Cardwell (4-8).

Bob Friend Loses

The Reds, after losing eight in a row to the Pirates, beat Friend (10-6) with two first-inning runs. Joe Adcock hit a grand-slam home run in the fourth inning that got the Braves moving against Chris Short (4-6). Warren Spahn (9-6) gave up two home runs by Pancho Herrera and needed Ron Piche's help for the final out.

Duke Snider singled home two first-inning runs and Frank Howard hammered a 430-foot homer, his 14th, as the Dodgers beat San James (11-9). Drysdale (7-10), beating the Giants for the first time this season, won his third in a row.

DETROIT (AP) — Touring professionals are accustomed to running after Art Wall Jr., and the chase was on again today as the 57th Western Open moved into its third round.

A record-breaking 66 Friday gave Wall a two-stroke lead at the halfway mark of the $25,000 event.

LAY PLANS FOR LITTLE LEAGUE TOURNEY PLAY

Final arrangements for the Little League tournaments and the rescheduling of several rained out games were the main topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the Gettysburg Little League Friday evening at the Elks Home.

The local All-Stars will try to schedule a practice session on the Dillsburg field for Wednesday evening. On Thursday Coach Bob Signor's squad will compete in the first round of the Area III eliminations when they tangle with Mt. Holly at Dillsburg at 6 p.m. The board sent out an appeal for all those who can attend the tournament games to try to do so. Transportation will be provided for many of the adults and other Little Leaguers who wish to attend the games.

Revamp Schedule

Two games have been added to next week's schedule in order to finish the season as soon as possible. On Monday the Rotary and Elks will meet on the Little League field in the regularly scheduled game and the Lions and National Bank will make up their engagement on the softball field. Tuesday the National Bank and Bream's will tangle on the Little League field and the Elks will close out their season by tangle with the Rotary on the third field at the Recreation Park. No games will be played the remainder of the week due to the Little League tournaments.

The Littlestown Little League has requested a game with a Gettysburg team since Littlestown will not compete in the tournament playoffs. Local league officials felt it impossible to play for two reasons. First it is against Little League rules to play an All-Star and "make-up" team outside tournament play and secondly many of the managers have planned to take their vacations at the conclusion of the league season.

President Fred Tilberg presided at Friday's meeting with all teams represented. The next meeting is tentatively scheduled for July 29 at the Elks Home.

The "Great Plague" caused 68,596 deaths in London in 1665.

EMMITSBURG LITTLE LEAGUE

The Red Sox clinched first half honors in Emmitsburg Little League play with a 19-2 win over the Giants Friday evening. Jerry Orndorff belted a homer, his sixth of the campaign.

Batteries: Red Sox, Hahn and Baker; Giants, Kelley, Manning, Hewitt and Manning and Byard.

Poisonous Weeds May Kill Livestock, Zettle Warns

By FRANK S. ZETTEL

With the coming of dry weather, most pastures have slowed down in their growth.

As a result, the animals on pasture have to hunt harder and graze the pasture shorter than in earlier spring.

Each year usually during July and August, we receive numerous calls on livestock poisoning on pasture. Normally livestock will not pasture these poisonous plants where there is adequate pasture. However, as a

FRANK S. ZETTEL becomes short livestock are forced to graze closer and, in most cases, will eat poisonous plants accidentally. Also because of the hot sun many folks will turn their cattle into woods pasture or open up part of the woods so shade will be furnished. Many of these poisonous plants grow in wooded areas. Most farmers would be ahead of the game if they would construct some type of shelter or some type of shade for their livestock rather than turning them into wooded pasture. The pasture in a wooded area is certainly not productive. There is a little grass but it is very thin and very low in nutrition. However, as stated, these wooded areas are very heavy with the poisonous plants that will kill livestock.

Three of the most poisonous plants to be on the lookout for are water hemlock, poisonous hemlock and deadly nightshade. Both the water hemlock and the poisonous hemlock grow near damp areas. These two plants are extremely poisonous and the livestock need to eat very little of it to be killed immediately. Even the crushing of the roots along the bank where they may be growing in water can poison the water. The other plant mentioned, deadly nightshade, will grow out in the field, quite often along the fence rows and in old, unfertilized pastures. This plant, although not as deadly as the hemlocks, can still cause trouble with the livestock herd.

Another plant which should be mentioned and again often causes death of livestock is wild cherry. Normally wild cherry, when it is growing and on the tree, is not dangerous. However if some of the limbs are broken off due to a storm or grazing livestock, the wilted leaves can be extremely poisonous to all types of livestock. It would be wise to go around the edge of your pastures along the fence line and completely remove any wild cherry that may be present. You may have been lucky so far and not have had any trouble from wild cherry. However, the danger is always present.

In addition to the above mentioned weeds, there are at least six to ten other poisonous weeds that grow in Adams County. There are several measures that can be taken to eliminate the poisonous plants from your pasture. Oftentimes, these plants will grow in low, wet areas. It may be necessary to use some open ditches to eliminate some of these areas where water stands and where these plants grow.

Another method of controlling these weeds, which I think is one of the most effective means and, of course, one of the excellent practices in maintaining and improving pastures, is by mowing. I sometimes feel that the mower is one of the pieces of equipment on the farm that is used to the least advantage. All pastures should be mowed several times during the year. After the first flush of pasture is eaten off by the livestock you should come in and mow. This will eliminate some of the tall grass which is not eaten and when this is mowed, young shoots will come up which are relished by the livestock. Also, this will help to eliminate weed problems in pasture. I know the statement had been made several times that the pasture is to rough to mow. I would raise a question that if a pasture is too rough to mow or too rough to apply lime and fertilizer it is going to be so unproductive that we cannot count on it very much for pasture and certainly in an area such as this it would be wise to think in the long terms of possibly doing some drainage and renovating some of these pastures so that it is possible to adequately manage them. Good management includes liming and fertilizing in addition to proper mowing several times during the year.

Other pastures may be polluted with weeds that it would be wise to use chemical weed control. One of the problems with the use of chemical weed control is that the food and drug administration has not cleared the use of 2-4-D sprays on pasture which may be grazed the same year that the application is made. For this reason it may be necessary to come in late this fall with the spray application and then not pasture until the following year. I think the one thing that we must keep in mind is that through productive pastures we can produce the cheapest livestock food that can be produced on the farm. However, pastures do need management and part of this management is effective weed control.

FARM SAFETY WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED

President Eisenhower has proclaimed July 24-30 as National Farm Safety Week. The local Farmers Home Administration office has been asked to cooperate with the National Safety Council in connection with this week. National Farm Safety Week is a week especially set aside to draw attention to the year-round farm accident prevention program.

More than 3,000 people are killed each year by farm work accidents — more than in any other major industry. More than 11,000 farm residents are killed each year in all types of accidents.

A million or so farm people each year are stricken by accidental injuries and accompanying disabilities, miseries, and financial hardship.

Blame Human Failure
Everyone in the nation is affected, directly or indirectly, consciously or unconsciously, by the results of farm accidents, because the national economy is affected. Of more basic importance is the loss in the welfare and happiness of the individuals and families who are accident victims.

Human failure is the great fundamental cause of accidents. Whatever the other conditions, underlying them is human failure to recognize and correct hazards and take reasonable precautions. Human failure includes: Excessive haste, unsafe equipment, improper care and use of equipment, lack of knowledge and improper attitude such as impatience, thoughtlessness, false confidence and anger.

Farm people can help by making frequent, regular safety inspections of their farm property, homes and equipment and removing or correcting all hazards found, by trying consistently to develop safe work attitudes and practices in themselves, by helping and participating in National Farm Safety Week and other organized safety activities as much as they can — during this special week and the year 'round.

National Farm Safety Week is sponsored jointly by the National Safety Council and the United States Department of Agriculture. It is endorsed by all leading farm organizations.

SOLAR HOUSE LOWERS COST FOR POULTRY

Although wage rates have nearly doubled in the last nine years, Penn State's mechanized solar poultry house has decreased labor costs per dozen eggs from seven cents to 3.2 cents in this period.

This achievement in poultry management was reported during a poultry science field day recently at the University of Hawaii. The speaker was Glenn O. Bressler, in charge of poultry housing research at the Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. Bressler claimed a saving of one minute of labor per dozen eggs pays for all mechanical equipment when amortized over five years. He said such mechanized housing will enable poultrymen to overcome spiraling wage rates and pay for equipment as a capital investment over a period of years.

In 1959-60 experiments, labor in the mechanized solar poultry house came to only 1.65 minutes per dozen eggs. In 1951, labor in the average floor-type laying house took seven minutes for the same chores, including egg cleaning, grading, and packing.

The Penn State solar poultry house is equipped with mechanical feeders and waterers, a mechanical egg collector, pit cleaners, and thermostatically controlled fan ventilation.

Dr. Bressler said the process is already used on some farms. It shows promise, he claimed, of reducing labor costs even below the 1.65 minutes per dozen eggs as determined in Penn State experiments.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

FRONTIER WARFARE

The tragic story of the fall of Fort Freeland, located in what is Pennsylvania, is continued at this time.

In last week's column the "eye-witness" account of Mrs. Mary (Vincent) Derickson, who was born in Fort Freeland and survived its capture by the British and Indians, was quoted at some length. Mrs. Derickson's recollections, written some 60 years after the event took place, cannot help but have a slightly personal tinge — historians of a later day in studying the overall picture of frontier warfare during the War of the American Revolution, make a few changes — although the accounts of the actual participants cannot be disregarded. The old files of the "Pennsylvania Gazette," now in the possession of the Pennsylvania State Library, published at the time frontier history was in the making, give a clear, comprehensive account of events as they took place. It is not known just who furnished these news articles — but it is very possible that Conrad Weiser was the "star reporter." One thing is certain — he did not lack material.

Little Peace On Frontier
Historically speaking there was little peace on the frontier from 1775 to 1785 — just short periods of calm with yet another storm in the "offing." After the old French and Indian Wars, the War of the American Revolution brought fresh disaster for the British with their Indian allies, knowing that General Washington could not wage war on two fronts, struck ruthlessly, time and again, at this vulnerable spot. By 1779 the situation was such that the "high command" sent General John Sullivan, in the summer of that year, with an army to invade the territory of the Six Nations, in New York. By striking at the "home country" of the Indians it was hoped some relief would be afforded the frontier. No sooner had General Sullivan started on his march from Easton, Pennsylvania, than the Indians learned of his plan and, assisted by the Tories, took measures to defeat the expedition. Captain John McDonald, a Tory in command of a comparatively large force of Tories and Seneca Indians, marched from the vicinity of the present town of Wyalusing, Bradford County, Pennsylvania, and attacked the garrison of Fort Freeland on July 28, 1779. Here, as stated in the account of Mrs. Derickson, many of the settlers had gathered for protection.

About daybreak, an aged man named James Watt left Fort Freeland to look for his sheep. He had gone but a short distance, in the direction of the creek, when an Indian, John Montour, sprang upon him from ambush, and attempted to drag him off. Watt cried loudly for assistance, and Montour then felled him with his tomahawk and attempted to scalp him, but was wounded in the back by a bullet fired by someone inside the fort. This compelled Montour to "take to his heels" and James Watt's scalp was secure — for the time being at least.

It is interesting to note that the Indian mentioned above, the infamous John Montour, is said to have died from the effects of the wound received at Fort Freeland several days later. His body was found and buried by the settlers and the grave marked by a post, painted red. To this day this place is known as "Painted Post."

This John Montour should not be confused with John Montour, the son of Andrew Montour. The latter John Montour survived the Revolutionary War — during which struggle he served the American cause. Among other things he accompanied William Wilson and White Eyes to Detroit in the summer of 1776. He was also with Colonel Brodhead in the attack on Cohocton in the spring of 1781. During the attack on Fort Freeland the firing could be heard at Fort Boone, located about a mile above the present town of Milton, Northumberland County. Captain Hawkins Boone, a cousin of Daniel Boone, left Fort Boone with a detail consisting of 32 men to relieve the garrison at Fort Freeland. Little did Captain Boone know that within a very few hours Fort Freeland would be but a mass of smoking ruins and its defenders either tomahawked or taken prisoners.

Surprise Attack
After Fort Freeland surrendered the Tories and Indians gathered together all the provisions and proceeded to the creek — where they made preparations for a feast. While they were feasting Captain Boone's relief force arrived on the opposite bank of the stream and fired a volley into the midst of the revelers, killing about 30 of them. Unfortunately, however, the Tories and Indians soon recovered from this surprise attack. They were able, due to superior numbers, to surround Captain Boone's force and killed 13 of them — including Captain Boone himself. As a result of the fall of Fort Freeland, 108 settlers were killed or taken prisoner — an almost crippling loss for the hard-pressed frontier. To make matters worse the enemy then proceeded to ravage the country in the vicinity, advancing as far as Milton — burning everything before them.

Samuel Brady, the brother of the famous Captain John Brady, was at Fort Freeland at the time of its capture and realized that for him, with his reputation as a scout and Indian fighter, to be taken prisoner meant certain death. Watching for an opportunity he (Brady) dashed into the underbrush and ran for his life. He was seen and two Indians pursued him — turning suddenly and taking the Indians by surprise. Brady managed to shoot one of the savages. The other Indian apparently lost his courage and gave up the chase. Samuel Brady lived to fight another day.

To be absolutely accurate the capture of Fort Freeland and the ravaging of the surrounding country was not strictly an Indian incursion. The Senecas under Hicokato, the husband of Mary Jemison, were simply allies of the British detachment commanded by Captain John McDonald. The historical and genealogical study of the Low Dutch Burial Ground of the Conewago will be continued in this column next week.

VOTE FRIDAY TO END STRIKE AT LOCKHEED

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Members of the International Assn. of Machinists Friday night voted to end a strike against Lockheed's missile installations.

Approximately 5,800 members of the machinists union voted by a 3-2 margin to accept Lockheed's latest contract proposal. Strikers will go back to work Monday.

The walkout began June 26 at Lockheed Missiles and Space Division installations at Van Nuys, Sunnyvale, Santa Cruz and Vandenberg Air Force Base, all in California.

Over 10,500 Employees
The new contract covers approximately 10,500 hourly employees at these installations and in Hawaii and at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M. The Hawaii and Holloman employees did not walk out.

The new contract provides for a 4-cent-an-hour increase this year, retroactive to June 13, and a 3-cent-an-hour increase next year. Average wage before the strike was $2.66 per hour.

FATHERS HAVE VERY LIMITED FROLIC TIME

By FRANCIS STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Fathers, as every father knows, are the busiest men on earth.

Why? Well, now, that takes a lot of telling—and figuring.

Got to wondering a while back just why this little Daddy-O never seemed to have any time to, say, sit on the front porch and watch the world go by. Or, better, hoist a few with old chums.

Rapid Calculation
Some rapid calculations make it all too plain. But inasmuch as a certain impudent lad once failed in high school arithmetic, you'd better double-check the figuring:

There are, it would appear, 8,760 hours in a year.
The lucky fellows who can manage to get eight hours of sleep a night in these times will run up a total of 2,920 in a year. That leaves 5,840 hours for other purposes.

Seems like a lot? Wait.
Eating Hours
Knock off another 730 for eating, regarded by man as a necessity. That brings the surplus total down to 5,110.

There's work, which, though unpopular, seems very near inescapable in this world. There goes another 2,080 hours, cutting the remainder to 3,030.

A nice round figure for loafing purposes—if anybody could get it.

Other Jobs
But there's the wife, who needs to be taken places. Gotta buy groceries, gotta buy hair-dos, gotta to buy clothes for the kids, gotta see shows, gotta visit relatives, friends, creditors and take vacations before the annual bankruptcy period sets in.

Another 1,000 hours shot, leaving 2,030.
Then of course those growing-up youngsters need to keep acquainted with Pa, and they're worth every minute of about 1,000 hours.

Travel Total
Grand total left, 1,030.
There's also the little matter of travel to and from work, say an hour a day for 250 days, making allowances for a five-day week and a two-week vacation.
That leaves 770 hours. Plenty for fun and frolic, Uh-huh.

Odd Jobs
It just happens that a few more little things remain to be done. Just little things like bathing and shaving. Trying to keep the old car wheeling along without falling apart in the middle of the highway. Buying socks to replace those the wife won't mend. Buying birthday presents for the wife. Tending few scraggly flowers in front yard. Buying anniversary presents for the wife. Christmas presents. Presents at odd and assorted times.

Trying to fix bed slats so they won't keep crashing down in night-time. Trying to keep house, lamps, furniture, fittings, children's toys and all earthly possessions in state of reasonable repair.

Listening to wife's comments on state of world, state of family, state of next-door neighbor woman given to feuding with wife, state of husband. The latter at considerable length.

Well, that's how it goes—for approximately another 765 hours.
As it turned out, that left father all of five hours to call his own in this great day of labor-saving devices, the shorter work week and the new era of leisure.

Know what he did with it? Tried to figure out his income taxes.

Hal Boyle is on vacation.

HONOLULU (AP)—Verne Callison, a top-notch California amateur for more years than he cares to recall, is a slight favorite over Ty Caplin, youthful East Lansing, Mich., golfer in today's finals of the National Public Links Golf Championship.

Callison, who first played in the tournament in 1938, reached the finals Friday by edging Mike Andonian, Pontiac, Mich., high school instructor, 1 up.

Caplin, a 23-year-old senior at Michigan State University, won his semifinal match in decisive fashion by downing Bob McMaisters, 25, a salesman from Royal Oak, Mich., 5 and 4.
